Phase 2 of Titledown, the mixed-use real estate development located directly west of Green Bay's iconic Lambeau Field, is highlighted by approximately 220 residences and a four-to-five story office building. Phase 2 adds to the "live" and "work" elements of Titledown's draw and will accelerate the economic growth of Greater Green Bay.

As part of the Phase 2 of Titledown, KTGY is designing 70-90 residences that are anticipated to be a mix of three different styles of townhomes available for ownership. The design of the Titledown residences will be a homage to the area's industrial history and its natural surroundings, while envisioning Greater Green Bay's burgeoning future. To create that vision, initial design plans call for the use of industrial brick and steel, woods and a natural color palette that speaks to the many natural wonders of Northeastern Wisconsin.
