

Kyle Millar NCARB
Project Director | Architect

As a project director at KTGy, Kyle Millar’s architectural experience has been predominantly focused on the residential multi-family sector where he has led design teams for a variety of projects ranging in density from single family to mid-rise towers. The core of Mr. Millar’s experience has been in the technical project phases beginning at design development, into construction documents and extending through construction administration. He is committed to comprehensive project management to serve the client and deliver a finished product that maintains the quality and character of the original design vision.
